be Discussed.

The 1921 convention of the Alabama Press Association will be held in Albany, announced Secretary-Manager McDaniel, of the Albany Chamber of Commerce, who returned last night from Birmingham where he personally placed the local invitation before the executive committee of the association.

Albany was selected for the next meeting in competition with Birmingham, Eufaula, Gadsden and Bessemer, winning out because of the transportation facilities here.

Mr. McDaniel, when he appeared before the committee, was backed by a number of letters from local business people, assuring the state editor a warm welcome when they come here on May 6, next year.

Large Convention

The Alabama Press Association has within its membership practically every newspaper head in Alabama. Its meeting here will bring together a hundred or more of the most prominent newspaper officials of Alabama and the publicity to be gained as a result of the visit will be great.

Questions of pressing importance to the newspaper fraternity will be discussed at the local convention, the executive committee indicated yesterday, including the price of news print paper and other problems. A number of speakers, of nation-wide reputation, will be here to deliver addresses.

Warm Welcome

The people will give to the members of the Association a very warm welcome. A committee of entertainment will be named within the next few weeks and plans will be formulated for the most interesting entertainment program in the history of the convention.

Goods to Britain
Must Beat Label
"Made in U. S."

(International News Service)
LONDON, Oct. 23.—American manufacturers importing to Great Britain are warned by a notice issued by the American Chamber of Commerce in London that all articles sent to this country for sale must be plainly marked with the words, "Made in U. S. A."

This rule, the Chamber of Commerce points out, does not apply to American goods only, but to all foreign products and is one of the provisions of the Merchandise Marks act of 1887.

Articles not bearing on indication of the country of origin are liable to seizure and confiscation, and importers are being caused serious inconvenience by the failure of American manufacturers to comply with the regulations.

Statement Declares Byars Case Foreign To Cotton Growing

The men, who have been placed under bond on charges of assault and battery, on warrants alleged to have been sworn out by Wilbur Byars, today denied that the alleged "whipping" had any connection with the growing or of handling of cotton.

In a signed statement they claimed that the occurrence was the result of issues entirely foreign to the cotton industry and it is said they would bring out the facts when the case comes to trial. The statement concludes by saying all of those involved stand for law and order.

PURPLE AND GOLD TRIUMPHS OVER HEAVY NORMAL SQUAD FROM FLORENCE. SCORE 6 TO 0

Albany high school, outweighed several pounds to the man, fought gamely yesterday and defeated Florence Normal 6 to 0 in the first game of the football season on the local field. The lone touchdown of the football season on the local field. The lone touchdown of the game was made by Tarpey, who slipped across the line on a buck off tackle. Humphrey failed to kick goal, but with the local air tight defense, aided by several costly fumbles on the part of Florence backs, the six point margin was amply sufficient to land the game in the local's victory column.

The game was a see-saw affair, with the ball in the middle of the field a great of the time. Punting was resorted to by Albany several times in the latter part of the game, when the locals began defensive tactics to hold their 6 point lead against the plunging of the powerful Florence backfield.

Score in Second

The first quarter ended without advantage to either team, the time being called with the ball in Albany's possession on Florence's 36 yard line.

A few minutes after the second quarter started, by a series of bucks and an end run, the ball was carried within five yards of the Florence goal. Tarpey went through for the touchdown.

Despite their weight, Florence, showing a great deal less speed than the locals, had difficulty in making yardage, either around the Albany flanks or through the line of scrimmage. Albany's tackling was high, but inasmuch as nearly every time two men, at least, hit the runner, little ground was lost because of that fact.

The local line broke up the Florence interference nicely, leaving the runner unguarded for the backs. Several times Florence lost ground on attempted end runs, when the drive of the Albany forwards carried them through to the runner behind the line of scrimmage.

The second quarter was featured by a near scrap in the middle of the field, T. Thompson, of Albany, and Burton, of Florence being put out of the game by Referee Carr as a result of the encounter.

End of the second quarter may have saved Albany from serious damage, as a completed pass and several bucks carried the ball to Albany's 15 yards line when the time was called for the half.

See-Saw Again

The third quarter was a replica of the see-sawing of the first. The quarter ended with the ball in Florence's possession on Albany's 35 yard line. Ezell, whose punting was an Albany feature, promptly kicked out of danger. In the concluding two quarters, Ezell's toe kept the ball away from the Albany goal, whenever Florence threatened.

While outstanding stars were few, the entire Albany team played well. The team this year is much lighter than it was last apparently, but the squad has speed and pep. It should have a good season. Very few passes were attempted by the locals, and only one gained yardage of consequence. The aerial attack was a feature of last year's squad.

In Ezell's toe, however, Albany has a defensive factor which must be reckoned with by all high teams. Ezell's punts yesterday averaged between 36 and 40 yards, which is very kicking, indeed, for a first year high school student. Ezell is beginning the education of his toe early and by next season should be averaging around 50.

REGISTRATION OF MORE THAN 3,500 WOMEN THOUGHT LIKELY IN COUNTY

Total Already Has Gone Well
Beyond the Two Thousand Mark.

BOOKS REMAIN OPEN
UNTIL OCTOBER 26TH

Age Appears to Count Little in Desire of Women to Vote.

Registration of 3500 women in Morgan county today was predicted as a very likely possibility by Chairman L. E. McGregor, of the county registration board. The total in the county Saturday had gone beyond the 2,000 mark and the board was expecting a busy day at the courthouse, as many women were waiting in line for their opportunity to go before the registrars.

Friday night, Chairman McGregor announced the following unofficial totals:

At Falkville	105
At Somerville	40
At Hartselle	600
At Danville	85
At Decatur	1204

Of the above eleven were negroes, Mr. McGregor stated.

Mrs. Bean First

Beginning with the registration of Mrs. Nora L. Bean, the first in Morgan county, at Falkville last week, every minute of the day has been a busy one for the three registrars. At Somerville, the registration was less than had been expected, but with the exception of that community the women apparently have a strong desire to qualify for the ballot.

Age seemingly counts no figure as registrants here have been between the ages of 21 and 81.

The books will be open at the courthouse here until Tuesday, October 26, and women from any precinct in the county may register here.

With the consent of their respective campaign managers, who realize the need for Ohio's 24 electoral votes and the tremendous moral victory which goes with him, both Harding and Cox have elected to make their home state the scene of their final activities.

Senator Harding begins his tour in Cleveland next Wednesday night, while Governor Cox will be speaking in his home town of Dayton.

RAILROADERS ARE ASKED TO HOLD UP STRIKE ORDER FOR "THE TIME BEING"

Lloyd George Invites the Miners

PEACE IN INDUSTRIAL WAR APPEARS NEARER

Public Assumes Expectant Attitude as End Looms in Strike.

(International News Service)

LONDON, Oct. 23.—The striking coal miners this afternoon formally asked the national railway men to suspend "for the time being" the order for a general strike.

Premier Lloyd George moved today to prevent a general strike from the coal fields to the railway and dock workers. The executives of the Federation of Coal Miners were invited to confer with the cabinet to consider a "peace formula" which involved an increase. This action practically assured a postponement of the railway strike.

The national union of railway men had promised to call off the threatened general strike of railroad employees if the government took steps before Sunday night to end the coal walk-out.

It appears now that the climax will not be reached in the movement of British labor to plunge the entire country into absolute industrial stagnation until Wednesday, when the trade union congress, representing between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 organized workers meets. The house of commons was not in session today.

The last action, prior to adjournment last night, was the introduction of an emergency powers bill, revising certain clauses of defense of the realm act, to meet the dangers of a nationwide tie up.

The national union of railway men has sent out notices, suspending orders for a general rail strike which was to have been effective tomorrow night at midnight. The suspension was for an indefinite period, pending further negotiations between the federation of miners and the government.

It was announced the miners have accepted an invitation from Premier Lloyd George to discuss new settlement proposals, but it was declared this afternoon that the negotiations would not take place until Sunday.

Representatives of the miners will meet members of the cabinet at Premier Lloyd George's official residence. The strike of transport workers was already being held in abeyance when the railroad men decided to hold their strike. The details of the new plan which the government was ready to propose to the miners to end the strike of 1,200,000 men in the coal fields were not revealed but it was reported that the premier was prepared to grant the men's request for a wage increase of two shillings per shift if the men pledged an increase in the output of coal.

WILL THE ENFORCEMENT OF INTERNATIONAL LAW BREED WAR?

The attacks of its enemies upon the League of Nations covenant are aimed mainly at that portion of it which applies a remedy against one nation seeking to take by force the territory of another nation. Elihu Root, who is regarded as the ablest debator and constitutional lawyer in the Republican party, declared in a recent speech, that it was unwise for America to help guarantee the political boundaries of countries as set by the Versailles peace council; but Mr. Root does not set forth any objection to "the world make up of nations," as decided on by this council.

Unless he had shown—and ample time has elapsed for him to have done so—that there was grave injustice practiced in the fixing of the bounds of the nations at Versailles, why should Mr. Root object to respecting and upholding the present national boundaries? And even if Mr. Root objected to the present boundaries, is it not rather late now to enter protest.

But the main consideration is—the authority for a nation to exist must proceed from some where—some authority must be recognized, why not recognize the council of the League of Nations? The Democratic party, without foolish quibble, has accepted the findings of the Versailles treaty as being just; as near it as men's wisdom can come to exact justice, and purposes that it shall be considered grand larceny from now on, for one nation to take by the sword the holdings of any other nation.

Not until it can be shown to the council of the League, that some nation is holding a part or all of its territory wrongfully, will another nation be allowed to colonize within such boundaries or to invade them. In other words, as President James Monroe, said that the boundaries of the United States were "fixed," and that no power should change them from the outside, so the League of Nations is saying—"The Monroe Doctrine shall be extended to the whole world."

Governor Cox, said in his latest speech, that the League purposed to apply the ten commandments as regards stealing, to international relations. And this is as every one knows the broad purpose of the great covenant. If the mandate of James Monroe,—just one representing only one nation,—has prevented aggression on American soil for a century, and as his "doctrine" has not proved to be a "war breeder," would a whole league of nations be impotent to promulgate and enforce a Monroe Doctrine for the world, and would the League prove to be the cause of a greater war than the recent world war? Such a claim is made by the radical fiery enemies of the League covenant.

When open declarations and the application of well thought out laws as between nations, are regarded as greater war breeders than intrigue and secret diplomacy—especially in view of the past records of the latter, sensible, peaceable, and law abiding people, will side with Mr. Cox and the Democratic party in favor of the League of Nations, and will turn deaf ears to the clever but false arguments of even such imminent men as Mr. Elihu Root.

Especially when it is recalled that Root, Taft, Wickersham, and all the other intellectuals of the G. O. P. were for the League of Nations until personal and party politics changed their great minds.

A STUDY IN FIGURES

An interesting study in figures has been presented The Daily by one of its readers, who obtained his figures from totals prepared by a statistician in Washington for The Wall Street Journal.

These tabulated figures disclose that the political party with the larger campaign fund was defeated in the race for the presidency only one time since Garfield was elected in 1880.

The tabulation follows:

1880	Garfield fund	$ 1,100,000
	Hancock fund	355,000
1884	Cleveland fund	1,400,000
	Blain fund	1,000,000
1888	Harrison fund	1,350,000
	Cleveland fund	855,000
1892	Cleveland fund	2,350,000
	Harrison fund	1,850,000
1896	McKinley fund	16,500,000
	Bryan fund	675,000
1900	McKinley fund	9,000,000
	Bryan fund	425,000
1904	Roosevelt fund	3,500,000
	Parker fund	1,250,000
1908	Taft fund	1,700,000
	Bryan fund	750,000
1912	Wilson fund	850,000
	Taft fund	750,000
	Roosevelt fund	325,000
1916	Hughes fund	2,012,000
	Wilson fund	1,400,000

Many of the tabulations above may be in error, but undoubtedly the compiler exercised more than ordinary care in obtaining them. It will be noticed that Wilson, alone, was able to beat a bigger campaign fund and he had the popular slogan "He Kept Us Out of War." Is it remarkable that the Republicans told their campaign leaders:

THE DAYS OF JENNY LIND

Life in New York was a one-ring circus in those simple tuneful days of 1850 when Jenny Lind arrived upon our shores. There was no dispute between the day's head-lines; it was an easy task that Barnum faced when he set out to make a great soprano a national heroine. The hard-put, publicity manufacturers of today, competing with each other and with a 1,000 distraction, can look back with envy to that time when the road to fame was easy—provided only you were entitled to tread it.

A condescending pity is the normal attitude of the modern toward this childish village-like era. Think of the superiority of marvelous today when sopranos warble by the dozen, Castle Gardens line our streets of the 40s, and there is so much going on, so much to read and do and listen to, that one is always behind one's schedule and breathlessness is the normal state of every one. Poor little New York, of those infantile years! What a contrast with the advantages which surround our life today!

All of which would be entirely true if anybody's life, its richness and growth and pleasure and wisdom, really depended upon the numeric status of its "advantages." Alas, neither beauty nor culture nor even fun is a matter of quantity any more than it is a matter of size or noise. Not a welter of half-tested artistic experience makes a rich life, but a succession of clear-cut impressions are, not tasted, but lived, are made one's own, as only the simply living, single-eyed can make it. And for such living the kaleidoscope of a modern metropolis does not offer the ideal background.

So we suggest that instead of sniffing at the simplicities of Jenny's day—when pantafoes were the acme of allurements and Mr. Barnum was the chief entertainer of a continent—we of today count up our evils with our blessings and see if we cannot learn something from the example of that unhurried era. It is possible to be calm and leisurely and enjoy thoroughly and singly in modern New York. But a deal of sense and will is needed to achieve this blessed state. Learning to say "No" is the first requisite—and after that to pick and to choose, to cease trying to see a little of everything and everybody, and to realize that human souls have their digestive limits precisely as have human stomachs, and to arrange one's spiritual diet accordingly.—New York Tribune.

THE ALTAR IS AN ANCHOR

The family altar is a family anchor, holding the home together. Did you ever hear of a home broken up by a divorce suit where that family daily worshipped God about the home altar? About the altar the most sacred memories of childhood cluster, influencing for good through all after life the sons and daughters born in such homes. Yes, the altar is the anchor, holding the home to the church, to God and heaven. The home without it may hold in pleasant weather, but when the stress and storm break, God pity the home that knows not the strength and hope and comfort to be derived from the presence of the altar.—Christian Advocate.

The haters of the League of Nations will doubtless put the British coal strike and the Irish question up to it for settlement.

Unless the Mexicans start another revolution soon, they will be suspected of having something really serious up their sleeves.

Now that a saloonless nation has forced man to spend his evenings at home, his wife has sought to make her escape by entering politics.

If the whole family could remain as warm as its head will become, when he gets his winter coal bill, the expensive fuel could be returned to the dealer.

If there were more houses being put up, and not just their price it would help some.

WHEREAS, Notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Thomas E. COTTON MARKET OPENING IS FIRM

LIVERPOOL AND JAPAN ARE HEAVY BUYERS EARLY ON SATURDAY

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The cotton market opened firmer today at an advance of 17 to 50 points on further active buying from Liverpool accounts. Houses with Japanese connections also were liberal purchasers at the start, while New Orleans was the principal sellers. Local and Wall street firms traded in a comparatively small way, prices, after the start, were a shade easier, but the advance was fairly well maintained.

Disorders Occur In Strike Zone

(International News Service)
WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Oct. 23.—A series of fresh disorders in the Williamson strike zone, caused by withdrawal of Federal soldiers, culminated today in the killing of John Yates, superintendent of the Yates mines of the Crystal Block Mining company. He was shot from ambush while walking along the public road. Patrols of troops were immediately thrown about the woods.

MOTHER GAVE IT

Virginia Lady Suffered With Aches and Pains Until Mother Began Giving Her Cardui.

Dublin, Va.—Miss Mary Alice Hughett residing on Route 2, near here, recently told a visitor of her interesting experience with Cardui. Miss Hughett said: "I had been suffering for some time with painful . . . I was pale, didn't feel like going. Would just drag around, and couldn't rest to do any good. I would suffer once a month with my back, sides and head. My limbs would ache and I didn't know what to do, but I knew I must do something, for I didn't get well by letting it run on. "My mother is a believer in Cardui, for she saw what it did for others as well as herself, so she began giving it to me. "It wasn't long before I saw a change. It was just what I needed. It regulated me. I began to eat and sleep, and the pain stopped. "Cardui is without doubt the best female tonic made, and I am glad I can recommend it to others. "If suffering with symptoms such as Miss Hughett mentions, or other ailments peculiar to women, why not begin Cardui at once? Its merit is well established by successful use for more than 40 years. Try Cardui! Your druggist sells it. NO-138
